

Students and Recent Graduates

Lay the foundation for a long-term career with a company that values every employee.

Build the career that's right for you.

Some of Haley & Aldrich's foremost leaders started with us right out of college and have stayed with us since. Why? Because there are endless opportunities at H&A for you to seize – and we offer you ongoing support every step of the way. To us, there is no one-size-fits-all. Your career is entirely your own – we're simply here to help you lay the foundation.

We know that students and recent graduates often bring the fresh perspectives and new ideas we continually seek for our clients. At Haley & Aldrich, you'll receive many opportunities to grow your expertise, apply engineering and scientific principles in new and innovative ways, and explore practice areas that fuel your passion for environmental and geotechnical engineering consulting.

Haley & Aldrich offers opportunities for students and recent graduates to lay the foundation for innovative, sustainable solutions that change how our clients operate.

Tuition assistance

No matter your educational ambitions, Haley & Aldrich's tuition assistance program provides the financial support you need to reach your next degree level.

Shareholder opportunities

We give our employees the opportunity to become a Haley & Aldrich shareholder.

Social responsibility

Whether at our project sites or in our neighborhoods, we're dedicated to upholding socially and environmentally responsible business practices, while also giving back to our communities.

“I started at H&A as an intern while an undergrad, and joined full time after completing my M.S. in geoenvironmental engineering. Over the past 20 years working at H&A, I’ve learned our leadership understands that supporting staff in all of their life pursuits pays dividends in employee satisfaction, dedication, and longevity.”

– Kate Dilawari, former intern, 20-year H&A veteran and resident world traveler
