

State and local government

We're trusted advisors and community members who work where we live.

State and municipal government agencies need a partner that understands budget cycles, regulatory complexities, and local priorities. As infrastructure ages and resource-management challenges intensify, the right consulting team can find practical solutions and plan for long-term stability.

Haley & Aldrich's state and local government consultants combine interdisciplinary experience with strong community relationships. We deliver sustainable, cost-effective solutions that improve life for public employees and the people they serve. Government agencies – and the contractors who work with them – trust us to bring the right expertise for any project, from complex geotechnical and civil engineering, construction management and administration, brownfields redevelopment, and environmental permitting to resilience planning, funding support, and staff augmentation. Haley & Aldrich's technical experts and project managers provide a full suite of services to our state and local clients.

Our clients trust us to be there when it counts. When urgent needs arise – whether that's infrastructure damage after an earthquake or surges in workload – we bring the flexibility and clear communication needed to work productively with your in-house teams and other partners.

Talk to our market experts

Jennifer Casler

Client Leader/Senior Associate Geologist

Dan Peluso

Principal Consultant

Market highlights

- Geotechnical engineering
- Construction management
- Environmental and natural resources
- Permitting and regulatory guidance
- Brownfields redevelopment, funding and grant support
- Resilience and sustainability planning
- Disaster planning and emergency response
- Community engagement
- Water resources
- Staff augmentation and advisory services

Connecting the dots for holistic project management

We don't just work in communities around the country – we live where we work and are involved in our communities. Through strong professional, agency, and community relationships, we can connect the right people and the right resources to move a project forward. Those relationships also give us a holistic view of the forces that impact state and local projects, from finances to regulations to real estate development plans. With this big-picture view, we bring fresh eyes to capital improvement plans, brownfields projects, and everything in between, finding new ways to allocate and manage resources even when those resources are uncertain or scarce.

State and local government clients rely on us for services that include:

- Brownfields
- Construction
- Contaminated site management
- Disaster and climate resilience services
- EHS compliance
- Sustainability
- Geotechnical engineering
- Lean consulting
- Water resources