

Publication

Environmental Professionals Radio: munitions, aviation, and Hawaii with Dennis Peters

Dennis Peters, Environmental Manager at Haley & Aldrich, joins this episode of the National Association of Environmental Professionals' (NAEP) Environmental Professionals Radio. NAEP's podcast covers anything and everything related to being an environmental professional, including career advice, timely topics, policy updates, and more. On this episode, Dennis discusses his work with military ordnances in Hawaii, how the pandemic has impacted the islands, his experience flying planes, and more. Listen to the whole interview below: